xp, and .pp levels before editing. The current code for this feature does nothing but confirm these variables are there and allow them to be edited. If they aren't there, it will just skip them (so you can't accidentally corrupt a save). The save editor can be turned on with an option in the save settings, but it's not available when the engine is running. There is no save editor for boats yet. But if you make a save of a boat on land it should work. You can however make a boat on water. 82157476af
